Men Can Do It
A Baby's Long Flight

Taking Funerals Seriously
By ARTHUR BRISANE

WHAT MEN can imagine they can do. Jules Verne imagined a trip around the world in eighty days. Now it can be made by air in one-tenth of eighty days. The same Frenchman invented a rocket that will travel, not to the moon as yet, but fifteen miles up into the stratosphere.

Power will be produced by the explosions of gasoline and oxygen. No man will go up with the rocket. It will carry scientific instruments that will make records automatically.

Ted Hanna, son of Carl H. Hanna, of a well-known Cleveland family, is interested in the rocket construction with the German inventor. A rocket to reach the moon would not be impossible. It would only require enough power to escape from earth's gravitational. Counting back would be the problem.

But one foolish person forfeited his life, and burning the great temple at Ephesus, merely that his name might be remembered. Another jumped into a volcano, to die dramatically. Many probably would be willing to risk a one-way trip to the moon for the sake of the glory.

The doctor said Susan Trammell, five months old, might live if she could have a brain operation almost immediately at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Md.

Susan was in Texas, far from Baltimore. James R. Wedell, air pilot, with the world's speed record for a land plane, attended to that. He borrowed a plane from the Houston, Tex., airport. The father and mother went with their only baby on the trip through the sky. Now the baby is safe in the hospital, after flying 400 miles in 33 hours.

Interesting young man is Jimmy Wedell. He wanted to fight in the big war, fought for almost nothing a second-class plane that had crashed, and together, flew to army headquarters, demanding a flying job and was told that he couldn't fly because he had one weak eye.

THE ERA HERE, SAID ROOSEVELT

PRESIDENT SEEKS OF WOMEN
Work Will Help to End Depression, He Declares

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt expressed the view today that "we enter the new year with a realization that we have crossed the threshold of a new era."

The dawn of a new year was a challenge. It suggests new opportunities. It is the day of new estimates and resolutions.

THRESHOLD CROSSED
We enter upon the new year with a realization that we have crossed the threshold of a new era. We have the opportunity of improving conditions and making our country a better home, materially and spiritually, for more than 130,000,000 people.

"To do this will require the concerted aid and continued efforts of many forces—of government, of federal, state, and local; of social, spiritual, industrial and financial agencies."

"I welcome this opportunity to express my thanks for the splendid co-operation which you, and members of the General Federation of Women, have given to me and the government."

APPEALS TO WOMEN
Your support of the measures initiated by the government to improve the conditions of the people, to establish social justice and economic security for all of our people has been and is a real influence for the good we have been accomplishing.

"I ask that we, men and women of the present and the new generations, continue to work together. With each united effort we can attain strength and force necessary to cure existing ills and give us a new national health and prosperity."

Girl Saves 3 Dying in Fumes

Quick action on the part of a Charlestown stenographer today saved the lives of three workmen who were overcome by carbon monoxide while working with a pneumatic drill in a building under construction at 100 Arlington ave., Charlestown.

The men saved are: Booth, Wallace, 45, of 30 Adams st., Somerville.
RICE, Thomas, 44, of 15 Edmand st., Somerville.
PIETRUS, Neil, 44, of 20 Michigan ave., Somerville.

All were taken to the Haymarket Relief Station for treatment. Miss Florence Gehring, stenographer in the Globe, Nickel Plating Co., 100 Arlington ave., was on her way to work when she saw the men lying unconscious on the floor.

She called to George Watson, a fellow employee, for aid. They carried the unconscious men to the sidewalk, where they were resuscitated by firemen.

A gasoline engine used to supply power for the drill had exhausted the oxygen in the building, fire officials declared.

TRAFFIC HALTS WHEN CAR STALLS

Boylston St. Tieup Delays Thousands Under Ground

A tie-up in Boylston st. subway at the height of the morning rush today delayed thousands on their way to work and forced several hundred mannequin passengers to pick their way on foot through the tunnel to the nearest exit at Boylston and Tremont sts.

The trouble, originally caused when the motor of an inbound Northgate car stalled, was complicated when following cars, coming the other way, made either a halt or a reversal.

The jam extended from the Public Garden station at the subway to a point near the Boylston st. station.

By that time, inbound cars, on the surface as well as in the subway, were held all the way out to Copley sq.

The evening rush cleared the subway again and slowed up service until nearly nine o'clock.

Winter again laid a paralyzing hand on transportation facilities as Boston's temperature fell to an official minimum of 28 above, cold yet for the date since 1922 and second coldest: Dec. 28, in local weather records.

SHOTS FIRED IN FISH BOAT WAR

An attempt to kill a fisherman as he stood in the lighted boat of his boat at a Gloucester dock was foisted by police to be the opening shot in a bitter union feud, which could end only in violence.

Firing from ambush, an unidentified man fired six shots at Reuben J. Parlo, 30-year-old captain of the fishing schooner John Drum.

Parlo told Police Sergeant Conner and Wallace he had received the death threats since he deserted the ranks of an Italian fishermen's union.

Also, 81 is too young to retire. At that age Leo was a great boy. Von Moltke was a great general, and at 87 a great Frenchman, writing the life of St. Louis established a new standard of French prose. Perhaps Ed Howe will start a new book to a daily.

Frenchmen take funerals seriously. When a hearse passes an Freshman stop and remove their hats. They were amazed, visiting here, to see horses pulling an American hearse at a funeral. There are no words to express what they think about an automobile hearse going 30 miles an hour.

At the funeral in a railroad station of more than 200 victims of a French prime minister, the President, Prime Minister and entire Cabinet of France, with leaders of French troops in Parliament, joined the bereaved families. The minister of public works delivered the funeral oration.

WILSON'S DROPS

FOR THE REAL PROPERLY

Chicago, Dec. 28 (U.S.)—As a consequence of enactment last June of the State sales tax law, for which the Herald and Examiner fought long battles for many years, real estate and personal property values have dropped from seven thousand million dollars to around five thousand five hundred million.

Abolition of the State property tax was announced at Springfield by the law board, composed of Governor Horner, Auditor Edward J. Barrett and Treasurer John C. Martin.

AVERTS TAX STRIKE

It is not for the probability of the sales tax as a substitute, the State levy for 1933 would have been between 30 cents and 40 cents on the dollar, but the fact that general property values have dropped from seven thousand million dollars to around five thousand five hundred million.

$3,000,000 SAVED

For 1932, the state levy was 30 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation. This was 15 cents higher than for the year previous.

To increase the property tax for support of the state government to 10 cents or higher probably would have resulted, tax officials believe, in a tax strike which might have thrown the local governments of Cook County into confusion.

The action of the law board receives real estate and personal property of the state's share of total load for the first time in 115 years. The savings to taxpayers is approximately $3,000,000 annually, taking officials at Cook County of $200,000,000, overdue taxes for 1932, 1933 and 1934.

RELIEVES BERDEY

But Illinois is the first state in the Union to abolish completely the estate property tax through use of sales tax reform.

Legislative benefits are not for the first time in several years, the state can pay the school district fund in full; can make payments on blind pension funds and the counties, and can pay the principal and interest charges on the state's bonds and waterway bonds.

man as an ordinary car. The driver and other passengers were not installed at a later date.

SECOND TRANSFER

The car was later taken to Samuel Roth of West 44th st., New York city, but the date of this sale has not been learned by police.

Tracing through various owners it was learned that the car was stopped on suspicion last August by a State police officer on Cape Cod. The driver was allowed to proceed without further search for weapons.

CAR UNDER GUARD

Mrs. Sophie Nidich, mother of the garage employee, told the Boston Evening American today that she had not seen the car since Sunday. At that time, she said, Nidich announced he was going away for a few days. The car had been seized the day before.

Police took every precaution to guard against possible seizure of the car from the garage in which it was secretly repaired. The wheels are jammed and important parts of the motor have been removed.

Reports at police headquarters indicated that Nidich planned to appear with an attorney late today or tomorrow to explain the contraband of the car and to ask its return. He will claim that the car was on the ground that no law forbids the use of armored cars in the city.

After a psycho-analytical tour of inspection among Hollywood personalities Dr. Kenneth Williams, noted psycho-analyst, declared Kathryn Sergava the most "dangerous woman" in the film colony. "Sergava is a 'smoldering personality,'" said Dr. Williams of the new screen "find." "She may yet show Hollywood something very new and different in the way of temperament."

Hollywood, Dec. 28.—Kathryn Sergava, designated as the most dangerous woman in Hollywood, got her contact at the film capital because of her resemblance to Greta Garbo.

Metrol-Goldwyn-Mayer many months ago were uncertain whether or the Swedish star would return from a visit to her home country, learning that Kathryn Sergava, Russian ballet dancer, might leave to be taken for a twin of Garbo. MGM contacted with her for one month ago to replace her.

With the return of Miss Garbo, Miss Sergava was at leisure today, there is a growing demand for her services.

Kathryn is 23 years old, and was born in Russia. She talks with a marked Russian accent, but this will vanish.

As the second Greta Garbo, the beautiful Sergava declared, "I am just myself, and perhaps the first one quite like me. I am not exotic and have no interest in mystery. It is my hope that I will be given the opportunity to play simple, everyday characters rather than bizarre and extraordinary persons."

Sergava's first opportunity will be in "Raiders" for Warner Brothers. Indicating the personality of the new film luminary Dr. Williams said:

"There is something terrifically restrained about this girl. She is like a caged volcano, and a damned torrent. Some tremendous experience in the life of this beautiful woman has made her a person of almost ungovernable emotions."

There is a bit more than the usual Thursday first feature substance in the radio wind for tonight. Led by another coast-to-coast voice appearance of President Roosevelt, the top notch turns to be taken include one more notable star spot, superintended by the voice of Mr. F. D. Roosevelt.

This afternoon program during which the President will be heard, is one embracing festive ideas at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington and commemorating the birth of America's war-time leader, Woodrow Wilson. Both the NBC and CBS network carry the same (WEEZ-WNAC-WAAB) or at least that part of it taking in the so many where movies are concerned, broadcasting breaks the voice of "Big" Hart tonight.

It was William S. Hart who held sway in his work in Hollywood. Rudy promises us the presentation of the "Ginger" Rogers, co-starred in company with Hart.

Cold is increasing. In some sections influenza is breaking out. Don't be alarmed, but don't be careless.

A cold is much easier avoided than cured! Do the sensible thing and adopt the ounce of prevention policy. Stay out of crowds, as much as you can. Avoid coughs and sneezers. Dry mucus, keep your feet dry and sleep in a well-ventilated room.

Don't smoking and night like a tablet or two of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. This will keep the formula keeping pace with modern medicine. Now in two sizes—30c and 50c. NOTWITHSTANDING MID-WINTER WEATHER conditions and a cold northeaster, the children turned out in numbers for the Junior League Play "Toad of Toad Hall" at the Repertory Theatre yesterday afternoon . . .

Hundreds of kiddies bundled up in furs, woollens and brightly colored caps, scarves and sweaters, flocked into the theater to enjoy a delightful entertainment . . .

We took Moly-O and her little friend Rosalie, all togged out in Christmas presents and a small bag of sucking candies . . . the last word in childish delight. They loved the play and thought it was very like the book such as "The Wind in the Willows," from which it was adapted . . .

Most of all they liked the bunnies, Mrs. Bunny and her two children fur cape. We glimpsed attractive Mrs. Hathaway Foster and her young son, Hatherly, Jr., arriving among the early ones and Miss Veronica Dwight, very smart in light blue tweeds, with her grandmother, Mrs. William C. Thomas . . .

Gray-checked, Rod Kirkbridge brought two small guests, Nancy and John King. Miss Nancy very cozy in plain wool cape-coat and hat to match . . .

Mrs. Graeme Haughton brought a young group from the North Shore . . . the Cochrane girls, Nancy and Lucy, daughters of Mrs. Dudley Pickens, and several others . . .

Eileen Stowell Cullen was with her guest, Miss Priscilla Paine, daughter of the Stephen Paines . . . Mrs. Frederick Cullen seated them and saw they were well supplied with sweets and then went off on a shopping tour . . .

Prefer the Well-Known Classics

A SLIP WAS PLACED IN EACH PROGRAM to enable the children to express their opinion as to the type of plays which they like to see . . . did they prefer the classics such as the Blue Bird and Little Lord Fauntleroy, or the new plays such as the Reluctant Dragon . . . their choice was for the well-known classics . . .

The crowd came early to get in out of the cold . . . Ellen Cushing, chairman, was at the ticket window, cuddled up in her fur cape. We glimpsed attractive Mrs. Hathaway Foster and her young son, Hatherly, Jr., arriving among the early ones and Miss Veronica Dwight, very smart in light blue tweeds, with her grandmother, Mrs. William C. Thomas . . .

Merry Time With Young Daughters

WE HEARD ONE AMUSING DIALOGUE between a young daughter of a well-known family and a governess which ended like this . . . "Mother said you were to sit BETWEEN the boys, Mary; you know they will stop the orchestra, don't they?"

And Mary sat between them. They were darling boys, sang all of the orchestra selections at the top of their lusty voices and just had a grand time . . .

Pretty Mrs. George H. Crocker was having a merry time with her two pretty daughters, Misses Priscilla and Margaret Crocker, and Peter Converse, a guest . . .

Very smart in youthful fur coats were the Misses Elizabeth and Edith Moir and also in the sub-group were Miss Hope Halsey, very attractive daughter of Mrs. Fuller Halsey, and Miss Priscilla McCaffrey, lovely daughter of Mrs. Robert R. McCaffrey, who accompanied them . . .

Many of the post-debutantes were on hand to give out programs and sell candies . . . Mildred Allen, one of the most attractive of last winter's bouquet vendors at the "Toad of Toad Hall" in the Willows . . . Anne Torbert was gay in bright red dress as she showed the small audience to their seats . . .

Smart in Wool Dress

EVELYN WETHERBY LOOKED SMART in wool dress and stylish leopard-skin coat . . . she is always noticeably well-dressed and is often used as model in the charity fashion shows . . .

It was pleasant to greet some of the popular girls of even less recent presentations . . . Mrs. William Shearer, 3d (Rosamond Holton), a belle of her season, was smart in orange and brown sport dress . . .

Constance Learned, aide chairman of the entertainment committee, was very chic in dark grey trimmed with astrakhan . . . popular Ellen O'Donnell was another who chose the grey ensemble with smart effect . . .

Jane Bogardus was wrapped in sealskin and black belt, very becoming to her vivacious good looks and rosy cheeks . . .

A bright haired miss with dancing eyes, Learned was Josephine Emery as she strolled up and down between the acts selling her goodies and business was good . . . grandmothers are better buyers than mothers oftentimes. The play goes on today again and tomorrow . . .

The Godfrey Cabots have sailed for Cairo . . . Mr. Cabot is a delegate to the Acronautical Congress. Their daughter, Mrs. Ralph Bradley, whose young daughter is home from boarding school, was glimpsed at Symphony on Friday afternoon . . .

Leaders Sponsors for Show Benefit

Well known personalities in educational and social circles are interested in the performances next Tuesday afternoon evening of "The Piccolini" which will be presented by Podrecca's company at the Repertory theatre for the benefit of the Mount Holyoke College Club Scholarship fund . . .

Friend Society Jane McKinney to Entertain to Wed Soon

Invitations have been received for the one hundredth anniversary dinner of the Boston Children's Friend Society to be held at the Somerset on January 11. The dinner will be a collection for funds but is given by the president and directors of the society to friends and contributors of many years standing . . .

Mrs. F. Reed Estabrook is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner, assisted by Mrs. Homer Alberts, Mrs. Thomas P. Buel, Mrs. Hugh Hancock, Mrs. F. Badsworth Bunk, Mrs. Thomas M. Claffin, Mrs. Howard C. Cutler, Mrs. James O. Fox, Mrs. Huntington R. Hardwick, Mrs. Henry A. Morse, Mrs. Vasar Pierce, Mrs. Samuel S. Stevens and Mrs. John Todman . . .

Another Boston man has chosen a bride-to-be from the ranks of Chicago society, according to the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clegg McKinney of Hubbard Woods, Ill. of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jane Elizabeth McKinney, to Mr. Philip Edward Coyne, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Edward Coyne of Brookline and Harvard . . .

Mrs. McKinney made her debut in the season of 1929-30, after her graduation from Bradford Junior College. She holds membership in the Junior League of Chicago and the Service Club . . .

Mr. Coyne was graduated from Phillips Andover Academy and, in 1932, from Trinity College. He is a member of Delta Phi and is associated in business with a Boston firm. He is spending the holidays with Miss McKinney and her parents at Hubbard Woods . . .

the social whirl With Dorothy Whipple Fry

CHRISTMAS DAY is over, but the spirit of Christmas lingers on and in the ensuing week the smart world is preparing for that glamorous night, New Year's Eve . . .

of her charm and grace of carriage can be wear successfully, and her curly hair brushed severely back from her distinguished features . . .

Another debutante holding the spotlight during the holiday season was Inley Allen Burrage. Her satin gown, worn at her debut party, with huge finesses and ruffles made her appear in the light of the ball-room of her grandmothers' palatial home in Commonwealth ave. touched it to a glister of shimmering gold. Mrs. Harold Chalfoux, aunt of the debutante, looked extremely lovely in a green and gold evening frock chatting with her friends and reminiscing over her own debutante party which she celebrated in the ball-room of the Burrage palace in Commonwealth ave . . .

Mrs. Albert Burrage, Sr. appeared in a dusky shawl of rose and green and was having as long a time as any of the younger members of her family. It is a joy to see a family who despite the ravages of time and adversity of circumstance has retained the splendor and dignity of a bygone day and mingled it with the advance of the passing years . . .

Miss Barbara Warner Is in Bridal Group

BOSTON is well represented in the bridal party which will surround Miss Elizabeth Boardman this afternoon at the 4 o'clock ceremony which will unite her in marriage to Mr. Francis Vernon Floyd, Jr., of Santa Barbara, Cal. The marriage will take place at Riverside-on-Hudson, where the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Boardman, have a large estate, Quarry Top . . .

Miss Barbara Warner of Milton will be one of the two bridesmaids, the other Miss Helen Houston of New York. Mrs. Martin Preston is serving as matron of honor and there are two little flower girls, Miss Emily Lowell, daughter of Ralph Lowell of Dedham, and Judith Dodge of Riverside . . .

Mr. Lloyd, who is the son of the Countess of Berkeley of Berkeley Castle, Gloucestershire, England, the former Miss Mary Lowell, daughter of Mrs. John Lowell of Chestnut Hill, will be attended by Mr. Norman Livermore of Cambridge as best man and Francis Boardman, Jr., Robert C. Boardman, William Hall Boardman, Henry Ropin and Charles Wister as ushers . . .

The Countess of Berkeley, who makes her home in Rome with her husband, the Earl of Berkeley, is in this country with the Earl for the marriage of their son . . .

After a wedding trip the bridal couple will make their home in Santa Barbara . . .

Reinhardt on Middle West Honeymoon

Following their marriage yesterday in St. Anne's church in St. Louis, Mo., William Reinhardt today was on a honeymoon tour of the Middle West. The bride was formerly Miss Miriam Louise Fitzgerald, daughter of Registrar of Deeds and Mrs. William T. A. Fitzgerald. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Reinhardt, of Newton . . .

The ceremony was the first to be conducted in the church since it became a part of the Catholic archdiocese and took place with the Rev. Fr. Carthy, of St. Cecilia's Church, officiating . . .

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore white satin trimmed with lace and a long veil held in place by bands of pearls. Her sister, Mrs. Robert J. Bond, was matron of honor and Joseph Hennessy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Bond, was best man . . .

Among the guests who attended a reception and dinner at the Copple-Piazza following the ceremony were Dr. and Mrs. Paul F. Butler, Dr. and Mrs. Roger T. Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler, Joseph E. Doherty, Miss Mary Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Berghaus, Mrs. W. T. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mills and others . . .

Oh, Mr. Conry! Have These Girls Found in You a Flaw?

The faith of two Boston girls in their belief in Mr. Conry, but failed the charity of Traffic Commissioner Joseph A. Conry has been told there are no flaws in the girl's faith.

As a result, Eleanor V. Conry and Geraldine A. Conry today went over his head and appealed directly to Mayor Curley to order their movement, pointing out that they are civil service employees. Indeed, that, their names appear on a budget for the coming year.

Perhaps, Conry, who lives in town, at the end of the year with the chance of admission to a new job, will be able to get a new job.

Miss Conry and Miss Conry have been employed on the city's permanent since 1929 by a letter from the city.

They claim that their names have not been included in that department. Then, they went to the city's budget, and they found their names there.

$300,000 NEED UP TO COUNCIL

An order for a $300,000 emergency appropriation from other city departments to enable the welfare department to complete the year is expected to be definitely acted upon by the City Council at final meeting of the year on Saturday.

The order, presented by City Auditor Robert S. Carver at the meeting of the council yesterday afternoon, was passed by a second reading.

In presenting the order Carver revealed that the relief expenditures for the year were approximately the same as those of 1932. More than $1,000,000 has been expended by the welfare department and $1,000,000 more for soldiers' relief.

Bridge Profits Run High as Crimson Four Trim Green

Harvard men were seeking new rivals to conquer today, having shown for a second time that their superiority over the men of rival colleges in the field of contract bridge was more than a flimsy boast.

The first assertion of Harvard superiority was made some time ago by James H. Magner, nationally known authority on contract bridge and a Harvard graduate, who intimated that no one could play the game like a Harvard man or words to that effect.

Since that time a number of two colleges have challenged this assertion and found to their sorrow that Magner knew whereof he spoke. Teams representing Boston College and Dartmouth have gone down to defeat, the latter team losing out last night in a session at the Deschamps Club, Commonwealth ave., Back Bay.

The Boston College team played a Harvard group several weeks ago after an alumnae, Victor J. Newton had challenged the assertion of Magner. The Harvard players won by some 3000 points. It was in the course of the match that Ben Ames Williams, author and short story writer, hurried second challenge and intimated that the men of Dartmouth would make Magner eat his words. To make the match more interesting it was decided to play for a stake of $1000. The Dartmouth team announced they would present this to the Dartmouth Athletic Association in the event they won.

But their hopes were in vain and the Athletic Association today had no hope of securing that $1000 for their team was defeated by 2400 points.

The Harvard team was made up of John Linton, William Campbell, William Belle and Nelson Cason, while the Dartmouth group consisted of William Robert Sturges, Willis Fitch and Lewis Wallace.

WYNEKOOP KEY WITNESS LOST

Chicago, Dec. 26.—John W. Pell, alleged handman at the Wynkoop mansion and believed by the defense attorney for Dr. Alice Wynkoop to be an important witness in Chicago's operating room mystery, is missing.

Atty. Frank J. Tyrrell today filed a writ of habeas corpus demanding the police produce Van Pelt Tyrrell said he had been informed that Van Pelt, who recently had been living with a friend, was called from the house a week ago Sunday by two men who refused to enter the building. He had not been seen since, the attorney said. Police declined knowledge of Van Pelt's whereabouts and the writ was dismissed.

Another disturbing complication is that nobody opposes a change with such stubborn indignation as the guys who make a change necessary.

According to Graham McNamee, "It is best for radio announcers to announce just as they talk." Not if they talk that way, it ain't.

But the problem is really very simple. As we see it, radio announcers should merely announce just as they don't.

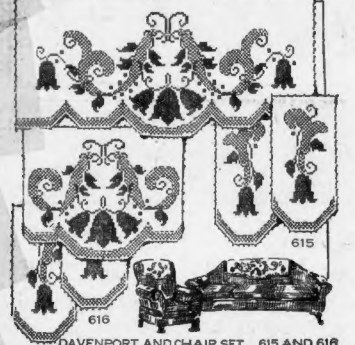

When I met Helen Heil enused; When I left Helen Heil enused.

IT'S WORLD WIDE

A bunch of boys here in Lamar have not only been staying out of school in defiance of the compulsory law, but they've been making nuisances of themselves. Miss Jones, who teaches at Ledbetter, tells Miss Rena Mayer, that a bunch of young rascals from twelve to fifteen years old, have been loafing around the Ledbetter school. The boys hang around the schoolhouse, telling the Ledbetter boys that they are fools for going to school. They smoke cigarettes and several of them climb trees near the schoolhouse, while the Ledbetter children are at the books, distracting attention and tending to break down their teachers' control.

And outside of a half-hour in the museum there's probably nothing that can inspire greater laudation than a half-hour argument on the gold standard.

LAURA WHEELER DESIGNS

Dressing up the house is a pleasure that the housewife looks forward to as soon as the holidays are over. And what could make the living room more attractive than a davenport and chairback set that match? These sets are to be done in cross-stitch and running-stitch and are most attractive in two or three shades of one color or in different colors. If desired the chairbacks could be used on a large davenport together with the davenport set.
